M O T I O N

The City has taken tremendous strides of late in addressing climate change mitigation. Efforts include: creating the world's first Climate Emergency Mobilization Office to put environmental justice at the center of the City's climate policymaking, the LA100 effort where the Department of Water and Power has led the way with the National Renewable Energy Laboratory in creating a pathway to 100% clean, renewable energy and, through Council action, shaved ten years off the date by which to attain such, efforts to cool neighborhoods with tree plantings, lighter-colored pavement, and reflective roofs, and efforts to protect and preserve the City's biodiversity and natural areas, which are essential to the health and well-being of Angelenos in the present and in the future.

Yet valid concerns about climate impact vulnerabilities still persist. The September 6, 2020, heatwave sent emergency room visits soaring and created a spike in deaths. 2021 brought the hottest August on record in California, with sweltering triple-digit days that had serious health impacts and sometimes deadly consequences on workers, sensitive receptors, and those unable to seek cool shelter. Premature births also increased.

A Los Angeles Times investigation found that California persistently undercounts the death toll from extreme heat by up to six times and has not sufficiently addressed the related growing threat of heat-related illness and death. These deaths and illnesses must not remain invisible.

Experts say an effective state response would include identifying and assisting vulnerable populations and putting in place a surveillance system to track when and where heat-related deaths and injuries are occurring. Impacts fall more heavily upon lower-income, communities of color, the very young, and the elderly. Outdoor workers are often required by employers to continue to work in extreme heat conditions. Other regions, including Arizona and New York City, are taking positive steps towards tracking and addressing heat impacts.

Governor Newsom's administration and state lawmakers have allocated hundreds of millions of dollars to respond to worsening heatwaves. UCLA's Luskin Center for Innovation is researching the State's response to extreme heat and has found that there is no centrally responsible authority. An analysis puts LA County in the top 2 percent of counties nationally for projected increases in heat-related deaths. Extreme heat days will triple or quadruple in the next few decades. As long as greenhouse gases continue to be emitted, temperatures will continue to increase, even above survivable levels.

As the City works to be a model of climate emissions reductions and renewable energy and to mitigate the urban heat island effect by planting trees in the right areas and installing as much cool surface as possible (cool pavement, cool roofs), it should also prepare Angelenos for the inevitable extreme heat days that are already beyond mitigating.

I THEREFORE MOVE that the Department of Emergency Management, in consultation with the Climate Emergency Mobilization Office, be directed to report to the City Council in 30 days on the status of the City's extreme heat preparedness efforts, along with recommendations to improve the City's efforts, including early warning systems.

OCT 12 2021

I FURTHER MOVE that the City Administrative Officer and the Chief Legislative Analyst, in consultation with the Department of Emergency Management and the Climate Emergency Mobilization Office be directed to report to the City Council in 30 days on available State and Federal funding to assist the City's emergency preparedness planning and implementation for worsening heat waves, and a plan to access such funds if they are available.

I FURTHER MOVE that the Department of Emergency Management be directed to consult with the appropriate State agencies and the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) and report to the Council in 30 days on the status and cost of a surveillance system for use within the City to track when and where heat-related deaths and injuries are occurring, the identification of vulnerable populations in those locations, and the development of plans to minimize to near-zero deaths related to heat.

I FURTHER MOVE that the City Attorney's office be requested to report back in 30 days on an ordinance that would institute a mandatory charge of criminal negligence to an employer for any employee deaths associated with businesses operations that occur due to preventable heat-related deaths.

The City's Administrative Code authorizes the City Council to offer special rewards for information leading to the identification, arrest, and conviction of persons responsible for certain crimes, upon the adoption of a Motion. In general, the Council will authorize the payment of these rewards when the Police Commission reports that an arrest has been made and a case resolved, and that in the opinion of the investigating officers and attorneys, the information provided by a reward claimant was essential in securing a conviction. In addition to special reward offers, the Council has also established standing reward programs for hit-and-run crimes and for vandalism.

Over recent months, payments of a number of rewards has been delayed because required financial transfer instructions were not included in the recommendations of the Public Safety Committee, as outlined in Committee Reports prepared by the City Clerk's Office. As these transfer instructions are standard, and required to effectuate the Council's actions on rewards, the Clerk should ensure they are included in their reports when the Committee recommends approval of a reward payment.

I THEREFORE MOVE that the City Clerk be directed to include all relevant fund transfer instructions in Public Safety Committee reports regarding reward payments when the Committee recommends the payment of a reward, in order to ensure the timely payment of rewards to claimants.

Governor Gavin Newsom launched Clean California, a $1.1 billion statewide initiative to transform public spaces, with $296 million dedicated to the Clean California Local Grant Program. This program will provide the City with one-time funding to beautify and enhance local streets, roads, parks, pathways, and transit centers. Through the combination of adding beautification measures and art in public spaces along with the removal of litter and debris, this effort will enhance communities and improve spaces for walking and recreation.

The Clean California Local Grant Program was created to achieve the following goals:

- Reduce the amount of waste and debris within public rights-of-way, pathways, parks, transit centers, and other public spaces.
- Enhance, rehabilitate, restore, or install measures to beautify and improve public spaces and mitigate the urban heat island effect.
- Enhance public health, cultural connection, and community placemaking by improving public spaces for walking and recreation.
- Advance equity for underserved communities.

This grant program provides funding opportunities for many of the City’s goals and visions and with work and initiatives led by City departments and bureaus. For this reason, it is important that the City develop a prioritized list of applications that maximize the City’s chances of securing the grant funds. Because the program requires funds to be expended by June 2024, the City should prioritize shovel-ready projects that can be delivered in the required timeframe. Because applications must be submitted in February 2022, it is essential that this priority list be developed as soon as possible.

I THEREFORE MOVE that the City Administrative Officer, in coordination with the Board of Public Works, the Bureau of Street Services, the Bureau of Sanitation, the Bureau of Engineering, the Department of Transportation, Recreation and Parks, the Department of Cultural Affairs, the Zoo, El Pueblo and other departments as appropriate, report with a prioritized list of potential applications for the Clean California Local Grant Program for Council approval prior to the grant deadline to ensure that the City is maximizing funding to beautify our communities and improve the City’s public right-of-way.

WHEREAS, the first cultural encounter in the "New World" occurred with the arrival of Christopher Columbus and his mercenaries, lost and starving, who were later declared as "discoverers" of a land already occupied by millions of people; and

WHEREAS, Indigenous Peoples' history and experience affirm that colonization after first contact resulted in land seizure, disease, subjugation, forced relocation, over 500 broken treaties, and a genocide, resulting in the death of 10 percent of the world population; and

WHEREAS, current Euro-centric teachings throughout the United States, most often taught in classrooms, neglect to acknowledge the tragic history and assault on Indigenous Peoples; and

WHEREAS, multigenerational trauma is often passed down through generations, resulting in a weakened or erased cultural identity, poor physical health, clinical depression, self-destructive behavior, substance abuse and addiction, alcoholism, and high rates of suicide; and

The Indigenous LAnd Initiative

All land in California is indigenous, and modern Los Angeles sits on ancestral Tongva, Tataviam and Chumash land. As the City of Los Angeles seeks to establish and strengthen the relationship between local government and California Tribal Nations, the City must proactively recognize the history of exclusion and violence against men, women, and children who inhabited this area ignore than 12,000 years prior to colonization, including the governments of Spain, Mexico, and the United States. The well documented history of European arrival and aggression runs counter to policies that for years upheld deceptive teachings in school classrooms across the United States; this is especially true in some of the imagery and icons that represent the City of Los Angeles.

As an initial yet significant measure, the City must acknowledge that the City Flag and Seal fail to include any mention of the area's original inhabitants, and in effect deny our own history. The City should take all necessary actions to reevaluate these symbols, which should represent inclusion and a more accurate reflection of the culture and history of the City.

The official seal was adopted by the City Council on March 27, 1905. The coat of arms in the center of the seal displays images representing four different phases of the City's history. The first quarter displays the stars and stripes of the American flag signifying Los Angeles' status as a city of the United States since 1848. The second quarter displays the grizzly bear embedded in the flag of California signifying Los Angeles' history as part of the California Republic from 1846 to 1848. The third quarter displays the eagle holding a serpent from Mexico's coat representing Mexican rule from 1822 to 1846. Lastly, the fourth quarter displays the "Castile" and "León" from Spain's coat of arms representing Spanish colonial rule from 1781 to 1821. The coat of arms is surrounded by images of olives, grapes, and oranges representing the three major crops of early Los Angeles. The fruits are surrounded by a 77-bead rosary representing the part played by the Spanish missions in California beginning in the late 19th century,

The official City Flag was designed and presented by the La Fiesta Association for the City's 150th birthday on July 22, 1931. The flag shows the official City Seal in the center with a background of vertical zigzag stripes of green, gold, and red representing the major California crops. The green represents olive trees, the gold represents orange groves, and the red represents vineyards. The colors of the flag are also found on the flags of Spain and Mexico, representing the two nations that ruled the area before it became part of the United States.

The City Council should take the necessary steps to ensure that the City Flag and Seal are more inclusive of the indigenous people of Los Angeles and reflect appropriate symbols of the culture and history of the City. A process that encourages all Angelenos, school kids, civic participants, neighborhood councils and others to submit proposals for evaluation should be done in collaboration with the first peoples of the region.

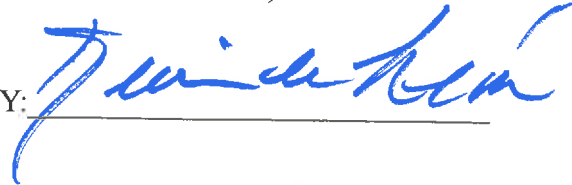

I THEREFORE MOVE that the City Council instruct the Civil, Human Rights and Equity Department, with the assistance of the City Clerk, Chief Legislative Analyst, the Department of Cultural Affairs, and Department of Neighborhood Empowerment, and with the direct contributions of local tribal governments such as, but not limited to: Gabrieleño-Tongva, Fernandeño-Tataviam, and Ventureño-Chumash tribes, to report to Council in 45 days on a community engagement strategy, as described above, that develops options to update the symbols contained in the City Flag and Seal to ensure the inclusion of the local native population and indigenous history of the region.
