

Pet Food Shortage at SPCALA Shelters

For the first time in decades, the pet food reserves at the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Los Angeles (spcala) are dwindling at an alarming rate. spcala is appealing to the community for pet food donations which can be dropped off at any spcala location. Monetary donations for pet food can be made at www.spcala.com.

In the past, spcala has been fortunate enough to receive food donations from pet food companies, big-box stores and corporations.

Due to the economy, those supply chains have trickled. Food donations are less than 10% of what they were prior to the recession. The drop in donations is exacerbated by an increase of animals coming into the shelters. spcala's greatest need is dog food, both wet and dry, but are also in need of cat and kitten food as well as puppy food.

 Donations can be dropped off at any spcala location:

7700 E. Spring St.
Long Beach, CA 90815
(562) 570-7722

12910 Yukon Ave.
Hawthorne 90250
(310) 676-1149

5026 W. Jefferson Blvd.
Los Angeles 90016
(323) 730-5300

Please call ahead for hours or go to www.spcala.com.