Winnetka council is 75th to certify

A West San Fernando Valley group became the 75th certified Neighborhood Council in the city, it was announced Monday.

The new council in the community of Winnetka was approved by the Board of Neighborhood Commissioners and becomes the latest to organize under the new city charter.

The council represents more than 45,000 people living and working between Nordhoff Street, Victory Boulevard, Corbin and DeSoto Avenues.

"This is a community with a special will to bring everyone to the table and give them an opportunity to participate in government," Mayor James Hahn said.
