NEIGHBORHOOD CAFÉ TRANSCRIPTS

Our website now includes a complete listing of all the Neighborhood Café shows that we've taped so far, and a description of each. Slowly but surely we've been transcribing the shows. It's easy to visit the site and see which ones have the transcripts available. And, as a bonus, we've added photographs to allow you to see the guests or the projects they discussed. If your neighborhood was featured on one of the shows and you have photographs that you'd like us to include, just send them in. Go to home page and select Training>Neighborhood Café, or click here.

Our next project will be to allow you to view the shows and other training videos on your computer.

SAD NEWS – QUENTIN DREW

Quentin Drew, president of the Watts Neighborhood Council, passed away a few days ago at far too young an age. He was a Watts native. He co-founded the Watts Village Theatre Company, and worked diligently to bring contemporary and classical theatre to Watts. He was involved in more community betterment activities than most people could count, and he truly believed that Neighborhood Councils are a vehicle to continue to improve life in Watts and in the city.

A funeral procession will begin at 1:30 p.m. at Ted Watkins Park in Watts (1335 E. 103rd St.), and end at the Watts Labor Community Action Committee at 10900 S. Central Ave. where a memorial service will begin about 2:15 p.m.

He will be missed and remembered by the members of the Neighborhood Councils family.

SAD NEWS – LETICIA HERRERA

Leticia Herrera, Vice-President of the Southeast/Central Avenue Neighborhood Council passed away last week. She will be missed and remembered by the members of the Neighborhood Councils family.
