INNOVATION GROUP VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT

On December 20, a newsletter was sent that invited people from anywhere to volunteer to serve on one or more of several "innovation groups" that are being formed.

We are looking for the best and brightest who can help in one of two different ways. One is to serve on a group from beginning to end, engaging in and contributing the issues being addressed by the group. The second way to serve is to provide a group with some valuable information that you feel you have without being a full and ongoing participant. Kind of an expert witness.

You can find the invitation letter and a description of the groups by going to our home page, or by clicking here.
