(<http://www.boyleheightsbeat.com/utility-boxes-along-first-street-become-public-art-canvas-for-local-artists-3191>)

The GPNC, Office of Cd14 Councilmember Jose Huizar, and the Los Angeles Department of Transportation (LADOT) have teamed up to bring New Art to all the utility boxes in the Cd14 district intersections throughout the Community. .The installation of “Box Art” is in line with the Mural Ordinance recently approved by City Council. The Utility Box Art Project is an expression of local artist and community spirit which seeks funding, participation, and city approval prior to installation. Murals have already made their debut in Boyle Heights and the LA Downtown Districts. Non-profit groups, CBO’s, and Schools and Churches are encouraged to submit their ideas to the GPNC and Cd14.

- j. Motion/Resolution to submit Letter of Support for ESAT at VDK Campus Site. (Van De Kamp’s Coalition v. Board of Trustees of Los Angeles Comm. College District (Case No. BS129238)
<http://www.rmmenvirolaw.com/2012/06/second-district-court-of-appeal-holds-that-challenge-to-project-is-time-barred-since-statute-of-limitations-starts-running-with-initial-lease-approval-not-subsequent-execution-of-lease>
Quick Overview: The project at issue involved the two-acre Van de Kamp’s Bakery building site (Building) in Los Angeles which the Los Angeles Community College District (LACCD) purchased in 2001 to construct a community college. After efforts were waged to save the VDK Site as a Historical Resource, an EIR update and to addenda by LACCD were prepared to analyze the impacts of the community college in the surrounding vicinity.

In 2008, the LACCD realized that due to state budget cuts, it would be unable to operate the campus. In 2009, in order to use the site for educational purposes, the LACCD Board adopted resolutions approving an interim use of the property and authorized a five-year lease of the Building to an outside tenant (Resolutions). The LACCD Board, however, decided that the lease agreement did not warrant additional environmental review, since the site would be used for the same educational functions contemplated in the EIR update and addenda

In 2010, appellant filed suit against the Board, challenging the adequacy of 2009 actions (CEQA I). Following the filing of CEQA I, in 2010, LACCD undertook additional actions furthering its Resolutions. These actions included leasing a portion of one building for employment training, adding indemnification provisions to the Purchase Agreement, and amending a contract to allow for additional architectural services. When the trial court denied appellant's motion for CEQA 1, appellant filed a second petition (CEQA II) challenging the 2010 actions. LACCD thereafter filed demurrers for CEQA 1 and CEQA II petition claiming it was time-barred. The trial court sustained the demurrer without leave to amend and the appellate court upheld the trial court's decision.

In conclusion, the court found that the 2010 actions were merely mechanisms for implementing the 2009 Resolutions. As such, they did not re-trigger the 180-day statute of limitations. That statute had run, and appellant's action was therefore time-barred. And therefore the VDK's Board of Trustee' is currently reviewing the renewal of their lease for the educational facility, in the Glassell Park - Fletcher Square Neighborhood of council districts 1 and 13 as the Environmental Sciences And Technology Charter Alliance commonly referred to as ESAT.
